

ABSTRACT

In at least one embodiment, transaction processing systems comprise non-disk persistent memory that is utilized to commit transactions.